

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

5           The present invention provides a human proline-rich acidic protein (PRAP) and polynucleotides which identify and encode PRAP. In addition, the invention provides expression vectors and host cells, agonists, antibodies, or antagonists. This invention also provides methods for preventing or treating disorders associated with the expression of PRAP.